

Major General Ed Wilson, U.S. Air Force (ret), has spent over three decades at the forefront of cyber and space operations. Having commanded at all levels from squadron to Numbered Air Force, he brings a unique perspective to the current state of digital conflict. After retiring from the military, he served as Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Cyber Policy supporting the Secretary of Defense and other senior leaders across the interagency with policies, strategies and plans to guide DoD's ability to operate in cyberspace. He retired from government service in 2019 and founded Pinnacle Strategic Consulting, LLC, which is focused on consulting, board service and public speaking in areas related to cyber, space and intelligence.
